Saga Update

DEP Says Former Board Failed to Properly Inspect

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - The latest development in the continuing saga of the Paul Revere Condominium project off Grafton Street is a September 20 letter to the Millbury Board of Health from Brian Donahoe, Director of the Division of Water Pollution Control for the Department of Environmental Management (DEP). It should be noted that the Board of Health at the time the allegations refer to, consisted of Frank J. Piscitelli, Walter A. Weldon, and William H. Caron.

The problems surrounding the condominiums date back to 1983 when the project first came before the Millbury Planning Board. Issues came to a head on April 8, 1991, when the Condo association filed suit against the Town of Millbury and Forrow Builders, Inc., developer of the project. The suit alleges, in part, that the Town, "through its agents, servants or employees, failed to inspect or negligently inspected and negligently approved the construction and septic system at the Paul Revere Village Condominium...."

The September 20, 1991 letter from DEP states that they have determined that the Millbury Board of Health "failed to effect compliance with Title 5 of the State Environmental Code with regard to the property owned by the Paul Revere Condominium Association within the town of Millbury (the project). In particular, the Board issued permits for the project in violation of 310 CMR 15.02:

"A permit shall not be issued for any system of individual sewage disposal when the total volume of the sewage to be disposed of on any lot is in excess of 15,000 gallons per day ... until the plans for such system have been approved by the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection."

The letter also states that the Board failed to properly inspect or require inspection of construction of the Title 5 system installed at the project or to provide certification that construction was completed in accordance with the terms of a disposal works construction permit, all in violation of 310 CMR 15.02(8).

The DEP has now required that the Board "take or arrange for the following actions to be taken" within the stated time periods:

October 30, 1991: provide the DEP with the name of a consultant who will provide verification of the conclusions contained in the Cullinan Engineering Report [The Cullinan report referred to by DEP was completed on September 27, 1990, by Cullinan Engineering, Inc. of Auburn for the condominium association. The report detailed the results of a subsurface soil investigation that was performed at the condominium site from July 24, 1990 to July 30, 1990]. The consultant must be a Massachusetts P.E. with experience in sanitary engineering, particularly subsurface sewage disposal.

November 30, 1991: provide DEP with an analysis of the Cullinan report which identifies options to eliminate existing and long term effects, including a preferred option and timetable for implementing the option.

According to James Dwinell, chairman of the Millbury Board of Health, "The board of health will do everything within their power to provide them (DEP) with the name of a consultant to try to provide an analysis of Cullinan's report by the time deadline."

At the October 8 Selectmen's Meeting, the board went into executive session to discuss Donahoe's letter. The reason given for the session by board chairman Jude Cristo was "possible litigation against the DEP."

The Chronicle has requested a copy of the executive session minutes of that meeting since "possible litigation" is not a reason for executive session.

Sutton Voters Deal with 24 Article Warrant

By Lawrence Moore

SUTTON - Moderator Carl Licopoli called the October 21 Town Meeting to order and led everyone in a Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Town Clerk Ethel O'Day reported for the By-Law Revision Committee, which recommended changes in Articles 21 (Probationary period), 22 (Warrant distribution) and 24 (Fiscal year Annual Town Report). In addition, the committee made the following suggestions:

a) that the Town Administrator develop a plan for a public maintenance department;
b) that the Town Administrator rewrite the job description of the Town Engineer;
c) that support be expressed for the realignment of the voting precincts of the town;
d) that references to the "Personnel Board" in the Charter be changed to "Town Administrator."

The Town accepted the report.

Dave Strieby, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, reported that the Selectmen voted to join the Coalition for an Integrated Transportation Plan (CIT-Plan) to recommend that the Massachusetts Aeronautical Commission reconsider its decision to locate an airport in the Uxbridge-Douglas area. The Board also reported its decision to join the other Blackstone Valley towns in urging the Commission to "consider the Federal designation of the Blackstone Valley as a National Heritage Corridor."

Selectman Wallace Johnson, on behalf of the Board and the Conservation Commission, thanked members of the Chase family for gifts of land on Buttonwood Road, Colonial Road and in the vicinity of Shaw Road.

Article 2 - Hydrant Rental FY 1992: A petition was sponsored by resident James VanderBaan to pay Sutton water suppliers' current hydrant rentals. Town Administrator Dexter Blois explained that negotiations were under way with the Whitinsville Water Company (WWC) to resolve the hydrant rental dispute. WWC was first, he said, because their fees are set by the State, and a resolution with WWC would set a pattern for negotiation with the Wilkinsonville and Manchaug Water Districts. Further, he said that the objective of the negotiations and with the filing before the Department of Public Utilities (DPU) was to obtain a "real" figure for the cost of hydrant maintenance. He called the hydrant rental fee a subsidy to the water customer because it reduced the cost to the user, and since WWC was a party with the towns in petitioning the DPU, and since no total rate increase was being requested, he anticipated a quick resolution of the problem.

Blois then referred to the next Article, saying that the hydrants would be turned on if the Town acknowledged that "a sum on money" for past hydrant rentals was owed to WWC. Such a negotiation was ongoing, he said. He estimated the time frame for hydrant service to be from three to six months, and closed by saying that the Selectmen were requesting that the Articles be passed over or indefinitely postponed to allow the negotiations to be concluded.

Dennis LaForce of the Manchaug Water District asked why a resolution with the WWC came first.

Blois explained that the WWC was regulated by DPU and that when a compromise was reached, negotiations with the Manchaug and Wilkinsonville Districts would begin.

Bob Sanger asked if the hydrant rentals affected the taxes of the whole town or just the water districts.

Selectman Dave Strieby replied, "It will be part of your overall tax that you pay for property taxes."

"The hydrants play an important role in the town," Johnson said. "We have no quarrel with paying what it costs the WWC or the Districts to maintain the hydrants. What started the rhubarb was the WWC billing us for $511 for the use (yearly) of the hydrants. We think that's outrageous."

No Hunting or ATV's!

MILLBURY - The Millbury School Committee, at its October 23 meeting, voted to post all school property surrounding the Elmwood and Shaw Schools: Under General Laws, Chapter 269, Section 10, that no person shall be allowed, excepting the law enforcement officer, to carry a loaded or unloaded gun on the grounds of any elementary or secondary schools without the written authorization of the School Committee. The person would be found in violation and be punished with a fine of not more that $1,000 or by his imprisonment of not more that one year, or both. The Millbury Police Department has been informed that no hunting or target practices, or the use of all terrain vehicles will be permitted on school property surrounding the Elmwood and Shaw Elementary Schools.

'Minor' Problem now Major Concern

By Alec G. Belisle

MILLBURY - Every now and then an article will appear listing some of the peculiar, seldom-enforced laws that are still on the books. Millbury Police Officer William Wilkinson recently brought such a law to our attention; the difference is that, according to Wilkinson, the Millbury Police Department will continue to enforce this law now that one Millbury case has been heard and decided. The law in question is one which prohibits the sale of cigarettes to minors under the age of 18.

Last June, Wilkinson was dispatched to a call from a Millbury couple who informed him that their 12 year old son had purchased cigarettes at a local convenience store. "The youngster told me he bought them from a young male clerk and was not questioned about his age," Wilkinson said. Wilkinson went to the store with the child, "who definitely looks no older than 12 years old," and the child identified the clerk who had sold him the cigarettes. The clerk, at the time, denied having sold them to the child.

According to Wilkinson, the parents, who have been unable to control their child's smoking, insisted that something be done to stop the sale of cigarettes to children. The parents initiated action against the clerk. On October 16, the clerk pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $100 plus a $30 witness fee.

Since that time, the child, who is now 13, has been involved in another complaint against another store for the same violation. Wilkinson explained that a child under 18 is not breaking any law for possession of cigarettes like a person under 21 in possession of alcohol. The one who takes the brunt of the punishment is the vendor.

But Wilkinson does not have much sympathy for vendors who sell to children. "You could understand if they sold to someone 17 years old," he said. "How do you tell the difference between a 17 year old and an 18 year old? But to sell to kids who are 12 years old and look twelve years old, then there's just a total disregard of the law."

Wilkinson admitted that enforcement of this law has not been stringent for years, "but we're going to try and straighten that out now," he said. He related that while sitting in court waiting for the case to come before the judge, fellow officers from Worcester "were kind of winking at the whole thing - 'Hey, a twelve year old kid bought a pack of cigarettes.' But I don't think it should be taken that lightly," he added.

"The only way we're going to do it," he said, "is to have parents come to us with their children, stating when and where they bought it (the cigarettes). We're certainly not going to be staking out stores waiting for kids to walk out."

Wilkinson said the Millbury Police would be very receptive to any and all complaints from parents, but added, "(The parents) have to understand that if they come to us with the information, they have to be prepared to let their kid go to court with us."

Wilkinson fears that the public's reaction to this issue will be negative, with the public responding with a "Don't-the-police-have-anything-better-to-do" attitude. He said the reason why Millbury is taking this violation so seriously is that the dangers of smoking have been demonstrated and are clearly marked on all packages. In addition, there is a law that prohibits selling to minors. "If they're over 18 and choose to smoke, that's their decision," he added, "but it's not right for children to be able to buy cigarettes."

All vendors who sell cigarettes over the counter or by machine are held accountable should a minor purchase cigarettes in their establishment.

We The People...

How Many?

To the Editor:

I'm going to have to raise a strong objection to Paul DiCicco's unsupported allegation of "...there are as many as 700 people in Millbury who...are stealing their signals," as was stated on page 6, second paragraph of your paper, in reference to Greater Media Cable.

That's just a terrible thing to say about the Town and its people, and I resent it. An apology to the town's population is definitely in order. If there is anything near 700 people stealing cable service, then Greater Media Cable has a responsibility to their subscribers, the host Town and stockholders to prosecute the thieves according to the law, and recover damages. But for heaven's sake, don't accuse "700 people in Millbury" of stealing...anything!

For one thing, the Town just isn't that big. 700 thieves would give us about 3 thieves on each of our streets. With those numbers, I suppose Greater Media Cable could present a good case for us to watch our neighbors. Heck, if three people on each street would steal cable service, one of them is liable to steal your lawn mower, too.

On the matter of Mr. Goldstein's comments, he would do well to remember that Millbury is his host community and we subscribers are his customers. And quite frankly, if we could get clear rooftop antennae reception in this area, most of us would drop Greater Media tomorrow. Their service isn't that good, it's terribly overpriced, and the technology to Millbury is so old...obsolete is too nice a word to describe it...and we're the thieves?

Hope you print this. Perhaps another cable company might pick up on it and come to treat us with a little respect...and a better cable service.

AIDS Support Group

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to inform your readers of the formation of the Shrewsbury Ecumenical AIDS Support Group. This much needed support group is open to all persons with AIDS, HIV anti-body positivity, parents, loved ones, friends and concerned others. Truly, anyone who wishes to attend is most welcome.

Meetings are held on the first and third Sundays of each month from 7 to 9 p.m. at the First Congregational Church located On the Common (Route 140) in the center of Shrewsbury. I believe it is important to make known the time and location of this support group to people within a reasonable driving distance of Shrewsbury. Unfortunately, it is a somewhat disturbing fact that due to the continuing social stigma related to the AIDS virus, people are often reluctant to attend support groups of this type in the town which they live.

If, by publicizing these meetings to people in the surrounding towns, even one person becomes aware of this resource, which they may desperately need, then it is well worth the time and effort involved to spread the news. Anyone interested in further information about this group should feel free to contact the Rev. Pat Glore at 845-7286.

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Negotiations Under way for Elm Street Parking lot

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The October 22 Selectmen's Meeting convened shortly after 7:00 p.m. with all members present.

Administrative Assistant Earl Chase reported that a complaint was received from an individual from Northhampton concerning a vehicle he purchased from Custom Auto Service on North Main Street. Chase said he didn't want to reveal the name of the complainant as the matter is in litigation in Northhampton District Court for recovery of monies related to the purchase of the vehicle. He suggested that the Board not initiate any action until the case is resolved.

Parking Lot

Town Planner Dave Hulseberg gave a brief update on negotiations that are in progress with the Federated Church on Main Street. The church owns a parking lot that borders on Elm Street that could be used as an additional municipal parking lot under a five year lease agreement between the Town and the Church.

Hulseberg noted that Steven Venincasa, who owns property at 37 Elm Street, has agreed to donate $24,000 to bring the church lot up to standard. The town is presently in litigation with Venincasa over his building. The 37 Elm Street building was denied several permits and variances by the town nearly two years ago because of a lack of adequate parking to accommodate an addition to the building. There is a provision in the bylaw that says if a municipal lot is within 200 feet walking distance from a building, the parking requirements can be waived. After some negotiating, Hulseberg said the Church would be willing to have the town take control of the parking lot on a five year agreement.

According to Hulseberg, Venincasa has said he will make payments of some $24,000 worth of improvements to bring the lot up to standards. This will prevent the addition to his structure on Elm Street from having to be torn down to comply with the bylaws.

"It appears that the town has a unique situation to work with the business community to allow the structure to be completed and come on the tax rolls, and at the same time provide for additional parking in the downtown setting and improve on somewhat of a blighted condition that exists where the circular stairs are on Elm Street," Hulseberg said. "There certainly could be some concerns as far as the liability, and as it is an additional parking lot I am not sure what that represents in insurance value. The other element that would cost the town is the maintenance issue and the fact that the church would like to see some type of lighting in that parking lot which we would be responsible for."

Chase said that with town meeting approval, the town could go with a 10 year agreement.

Hulseberg said the Church would want to go with a five-year agreement to see how well it works.

Board Chairman Jude Cristo said another downtown lot is a great idea. He also said he was not too concerned about insurance. He asked Hulseberg if he had checked with Highway Surveyor Joe Chase with respect to maintenance.

Hulseberg replied that Chase said it would be pretty much a straight shot on the lot as there will be no cuts or curbs, making for easy plowing.

Cristo said his only concern was that after five years the church could say they no longer want to continue the arrangement. "How does the (Venincasa) building in question come into compliance as regards to the zoning and how do they stand in regard to parking," he asked.

Hulseberg replied that the town held the Venincasa's to the highest letter of the law when it was discovered that they had constructed two stories on their building without a permit. "That is a mixed use building and certainly, if they properly present it," he said, "one could demonstrate that the mixed use setting could demonstrate that there would be adequate parking. During the peak periods of the day offices are utilized, and during the non-peak periods the apartments are utilized." There are four apartments in the building with an additional four proposed.

Cristo remarked that at two spaces per apartment, 16 spaces would be required. There are also three businesses in the building, requiring another two parking spaces per business which brings it up to 22 spaces.

Hulseberg said he thought there were 18 parking spaces available.

Cristo then said if the agreement with the church falls through, the town would then be faced with additional parking on the street.

"No," Hulseberg replied, "in fact they (Venincasa) would pretty much have their own parking. It would be the Elm Draft House that doesn't have parking. In fact, they don't have any space for parking. I think that is one of the novel things, that you want to see a downtown crowded. You want to see it active. The only cost to the town would be the maintenance of the lighting. My recommendation to the Board," he said, "is that before Mr. Venincasa comes before the town, the $24,000 for this project has to be into our attorney's office with a legal agreement to be written so we can expend those funds. In that way, we know that the work is going to be done."

Cristo suggested that this money be put into an escrow account before the Planning board takes final action.

Selectman Roland Lachance asked if the church was requesting any special considerations as part of the agreement.

Hulseberg replied there would only be a problem if people park their vehicles overnight on a Saturday which would prohibit the Church from utilizing the lot on Sundays for church services. He said they may want a ban on overnight parking. "Right now they are not looking for anything," he said, "but they just want you to be sensitive to their needs.

The Board approved Hulseberg's recommendation to enter into a five year lease agreement with the Millbury Federated Church.

Hulseberg then reported that YOU INC., a private social service agency serving youth and families in Worcester, has expressed interest in utilizing space on the second and third floors of the Center School building, and possibly the whole building.

Interchange Committee

In a brief discussion on appointments to the Route 146/20 Interchange Committee recently established by the legislature, Cristo noted that the legislation granted the Worcester City Council the authority to make two appointments to the committee but did not provide the same privilege for Millbury. He said that was not the original intent of the legislation.

Lachance noted that a letter from Senator Amorello indicates that he is recommending the appointment of William Pratt and a Mrs. Brunell of Millbury to the Committee.

Cristo suggested that local legislators be made aware of the Board's concerns on how appointments are being made.

Parks Department

The Board met with Parks Department Commissioners Joe Bott and Kevin Plante who were present to seek approval to post the full time position for Parks Department left vacant since the death of Bob Lange. Bott stated the department would like to post the position in-house first to allow any union members to bid.

Cristo noted that a hiring freeze is in effect, and asked that Bott come back to the Board before taking any action if the position is not filled in-house.

Public Hearing

A hearing was held on a complaint brought before the Board by Roland and Kay Lachance of Davis Road, alleging an attack on two goats by a dog owned by Sten Brote of 56A Davis Road.

Dog Officer George Royal testified that he was called to the farm of the Lachances at 2:00 p.m. on September 14. He said a veterinarian was administering to the goats when he arrived. Royal said he patrolled the neighborhood and found no dog fitting the description cited by Mrs. Lachance. The following week, Royal said he observed Brote driving a pick up truck near his home with a dog in the rear. He said that dog was identified by Mrs. Lachance as being the dog who attacked the goats. He said he returned to the Town Hall and looked up the records and found that the dog was not registered in Millbury. He said a citation was issued to Brote. Brote said his citation has been appealed to District Court.

Mrs. Lachance testified that she chased the dog out of the barn and it jumped over a fence and fled. She said the dog weighed approximately 30 pounds and was black and tan. She also said she did not know who owned the dog.

Police Officer William Wilkinson, who investigated the incident, said he went to the Brote's office in Worcester and found a dog that was black and tan. He said Brote gave him permission to take photos of the dog. Mrs. Lachance later identified the dog from those photos as being the one that attacked her goats.

Mrs. Lachance reported that the goats have required daily care since the incident, and veterinarian and medical bills are now up to $885.

A letter was read from Brote, who was present. The letter said that Brote can only reiterate what his wife told the dog officer and what he told the Millbury Police, "My dog was on the run when we left the house on Saturday September 14th and my dog was on the run when we returned home."

The Board voted to take the complaint under advisement.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

Happy Halloween to one and all. This is a wonderful time of year with the leaves in all their brightness, and then having to be raked up and disposed of in some manner. I see a lot of them being piled into pumpkin plastic bags to decorate our front lawns and even to make scarecrows.

This All Hallows Eve comes from our Scottish and Irish heritage when the Druids of old celebrated it to their god of the Dead, Samhain. November 1st was their New Year, and then in the 11th Century, November 2nd became All Soul's Day. This in remembrance of the Saints who handed down the Christian faith to us all.

It was believed of old that on this Hallowed Night, elves, fairies, and witches would fly around in the form of cats. Of course the Irish knew that the Elves were full of mischief, and some of the young men would help them out with a few tricks of their own. Buggies would appear on shed roofs, small houses would be turned over, and my Dad used to tell how a bunch of boys would get the horse-trader going with a great racket. In my day, it was soap and candles to decorate the windows of the shops in town. Also, a few firecrackers would find their way down some chimneys....

Out of all this, we now have the children coming around with their bags for Trick or Treat. I like to tease them and ask what Trick they are going to play: I have never found out yet.

It was on October 31, 1517 that Martin Luther posted his Ninety- five Theses to challenge debate on the practice of indulgences for the forgiveness of sin. This was the beginning of the Protestant Reformation which has come down to us today as the Continuing Reformation. For truly, all our churches and our christian lives need a re-forming to meet the many needs in our world today. And the greatest of all our needs is a personal relationship with our God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

On The Shelf

By Rosemary Waltos

In October, Money Magazine came out with the results of its recent study of over 1,000 four year colleges. The purpose of this was to find out which schools offer the best buy for the money in higher education. Researchers measured 12 factors, including student/faculty ratio, faculty strength, library resources, and freshmen retention and graduation rates. Both public and private schools made the grade.

Topping the list of the ten schools that delivered the best education for the money was Rice University in Texas. Tuition is $7,700. Next on the list was The New College University of South Florida, with a tuition of $1,675 for residents and $6,690 for out-of-staters. Third on the list was Trenton State College (my home town state college). Tuition here is $3,079 for residents, $4,750 if you live out of state.

Other colleges making the top ten were: University of Virginia, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, California Institute of Technology, State University of New York at Binghamton, University of Washington, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and the University of Texas at Austin.

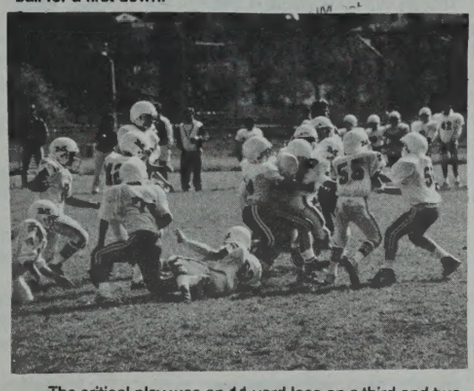
Where can you find out more information about these and other colleges, in addition to Money Magazine? You don't have to be a college grad to guess, in the Millbury Public Library's reference and circulating collections. The library carries three college directories: The College Blue Book is an important four volume set which contains information on scholarships, fellowships, grant and loan programs for individual schools, and has the special feature of listing schools by majors; Peterson's Guide to Four Year Colleges and Peterson's Guide to Two Year Colleges both provide basic information about schools in the U.S. and Canada. You will also find individual college catalogs for over 100 colleges in New England in the library's reference area.

For more information about how to afford the high cost of college, look for How the Military Will Help You Pay for College, How to Pay for Your Children's Education, Dollars for Scholars and Winning Money for College.

The library also has applications for Federal student aid. This form is necessary to apply for Federal assistance programs such as Pell Grants, Stafford Loans, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work Study, and Perkins loans. Deadline for filing the application is May 1, 1992. For advice on out of state and federal financial aid programs and application forms, call the Higher Education Information Center at 1-800-442-1171.

Final Game Coming Up

MILLBURY/SUTTON - The Millbury-Sutton Raiders lost their second game in a row recently, 22-0. This was a good game until 20 seconds before half time when the Worcester Vikings scored their second touchdown of the game. That score took the steam out of the Raiders. The game was packed with a lot of good defensive plays on both sides. It wasn't until the second quarter that the Vikings scored on a sweep around the left side. They added the two point conversion for an 8-0 lead. On the ensuing kick-off, the Raiders failed to move the ball for a first down.



The critical play was an 11 yard loss on a third and two down. With 20 seconds left, the Vikings ran a fake sweep, and the halfback completed a 39 yard pass play to the wide out to make the score 14-0 at half time. The second half was filled with defensive gems, and neither offense moved the ball until the Vikings finally managed to drive the ball into the end-zone to account for the final score.

The Raiders final home game of the season will be at 2 p.m. on November 3 at Millbury High.

Another Point of View

Doubting Thomas

By Lawrence Moore

The circus in Washington is over. There are many losers. In my view there was only one winner: Joe Biden. At a meeting Tuesday night, and at an annual meeting Wednesday at lunch (the day after the vote) the same sentiment was expressed by men and women, Democrats and Republicans, elders and not-so-elders.

Isn't that a shame! Fourteen Senators, a Supreme Court nominee, an alleged harassee (not an allegator, as Senator Hatch slipped in), countless supporters and detractors, and squads of character witnesses played a part. Charges and counter charges, credits and discredits flew back and forth like oral ping-pong balls. And in the end it was Joe Biden's dramatic, off-the-cuff condemnation of his colleagues and of Thomas that people remembered.

It had gotten to the point where Senators(!) rose to the bait Thomas cast and castigated, with him, the "process." Biden defended the process and Democracy as the best available "process" until something better comes along. Biden, acknowledging his own sad experience, reclaimed at least a part of the stature he lost in his Presidential bid, reclaimed so much that one of my lunch companions predicted he would be President in 1996!

There was nothing wrong with the process. The problems were with the participants, beginning with George Bush. In this great country of ours how could he with a straight face tell us that Clarence Thomas (a worthy public servant) was the best man for the job. If that is true, emigrate!

The Senatorial participants provided the best reason for Limited Terms. They repeated, went round in circles, badgered Thomas and others, played Matlock and Judge Wapner, waved the flag and, as I'm afraid I do, waited with bated breath for acclamation of their every thought. Eight Southern Democratic Senators voted for confirmation. I wish I could be sure their votes were votes of conscience but somehow I feel they were reluctant to vote against a Black nominee, considering the size of the Black electorate in their states. Only two Republicans, Packwood of Oregon and Jeffords of Vermont disagreed with their President and their colleagues. Were all the others of like mind and conscience, or were they voting for a principle, a party, or in self-defense? Is not a Supreme Court nomination worthy of independent decision? At least some Democrats broke ranks, if even for possibly the wrong reasons. Hatch, in another gaffe, hit Kennedy a solid blow below the belt by referring to "a bridge in Massachusetts" and quickly apologized, saying he meant "the Brooklyn Bridge." Were Hatch's two digs slips of the tongue, purposeful innuendos, or subliminal betrayals of a vicious nature? Examples abound of Senatorial conduct that led one *of our Selectmen in Sutton to say, "I guess we're not so bad after all."

Now the contributors: Carefully chosen, they responded as expected. Whatever they added to the decision-making process could have been taken in depositions, and would have been equally credible and equally valuable. Each one said exactly what had been published weeks in advance. It seemed frequently that they could not have been talking about the same person, but each one spoke with unmistakable authority. They changed no senator's mind. The witnesses: also carefully chosen, probably good people who contributed little to the Jekyll-Hyde denouement. As Senator Grassley of Iowa said, "I was left with more questions after the hearings than before."

Thomas himself: As Senator Exxon of Nebraska said of the qualifications of Thomas, "Ridiculous statements in all of this began with the President." Thomas was put in a place he did not belong, and having put him there, the White House and the Republicans worked behind the scenes in ways we will never know to avoid having to retreat. Giving Thomas his due, his achievements in 43 years were commendable for any person, and worthy of note. But he had been a Judge only little more than a year, participated in no far-reaching Constitutional decisions, contradicted himself again and again in his writings and speeches, and reached the height when he said he had never discussed Roe vs Wade! In that, he is unique...probably the only one in the country who has not sounded off about abortion or right-to-life.

It is to be hoped that those who voted against Thomas voted on their estimate of his qualifications. Obviously many who voted for him were reacting to pressure of one sort or another, as probably were some of those against. We will never know if our 100 Senators served us as they were sworn to do in their oaths.

Now the President is going to send up a new suggested confirmation procedure. It will do just as well or as poorly as the present one if the players in the game are the same, if the ethics of the players don't improve, if the players are incapable of independent decision, and if the good of the Country is not seen as the most important factor in any decision.

Joe Biden, saying he didn't know who spoke the truth said, "I'm not clairvoyant." The rest of us are left Doubting Thomas!

Questions Raised Over Conduct at Football Games

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The October 23 School Committee meeting convened at 7:30 P.M. with all members present.

Principal Frank Rogers of the Shaw School was present to report on the Grade 6 math program as requested by Committee member Alan Marble. Marble said he asked for a report based upon concerns expressed to him by some parents.

Rogers explained that students are grouped homogeneously in reading and heterogeneously in other subjects. The grouping is done by the previous year's teachers, the guidance department, and the principal. The results of the Iowa Test are also taken into consideration. Performance in the 5th grade is an overriding criteria, he said.

Rogers noted that approximately 30 students are in the high math group this year. The text used for all students is D.C. Heath which has been used for some time and is supported by the teachers. He also said one grade 6 math teacher says the book is challenging to the high group and that it should be kept in mind that the text is only a tool, not a panacea. He said that of all the texts used, the math text is the least criticized.

Marble said students in grade 6 in the high group have been taught as a unit since grade one in reading and math and were accelerated beyond the average student. After 5 years, he said, they now find themselves in a heterogeneous situation. The parents have expressed concern that their children are not being challenged and that the text does not offer new areas.

Marble said that the teachers are forced to teach to the middle level in a heterogeneous class. He then asked if the team is challenging the students.

Rogers replied that the issue has been discussed with the team and all of the faculty. "I assure you," he said, "I take this responsibility seriously and I pledge to make it work and not just teach to the middle students."

Rogers then asked that the issue not be used to judge the staff after only three weeks into the school year since there have been radical changes made at the Shaw School in staffing and programs which the Elmwood and High School have not experienced. He noted that the school has gone from a departmentalized structure to a self contained classroom structure, and now to a team structure. He suggested that the team be given time to adjust, and noted that his building has 500 students, not just 30, and that he is responsible to all the students. "We are going in the right direction," he said.

Marble said he could not see how a teacher could move forward and keep pace with students of different levels.

Assistant Superintendent Richard Palermo said the Curriculum Study Committee is looking at the issue of ability grouping and will be coming to the School Committee with recommendations.

Marble said the situation will be closely watched since parents feel top students are not challenged to move ahead faster.

Rogers said he would appreciate it if, as a courtesy, parents would call him or the teacher to discuss matters such as this.

Marble, referring to a policy manual concerning grouping, noted that the policy is outdated and needs to be revised.

Conduct at Football Games

School Committeeman Bruce Pease introduced an item on student conduct at football games. He said he was told that a large contingent of Millbury students in grades 7 and 8 were raising cane and causing trouble for fans and players at a recent game with Uxbridge.

If they display bad behavior, Pease said, they should be asked to leave the premises with the parents called to pick them up. "There needs to be tight control over this type of situation, and a strong statement made," he said.

Superintendent Alfred Sylvia said that notes were sent to the grade 7 and 8 teachers to discuss this issue with their students.

Brad Turner, of West Main Street, said he was at the game in question and reported that Sergeant Ed Perry of the Millbury Police Department did a good job handling the situation.

Paula Bunnevith, who also said she was at the game, commented that Perry and Athletic Director Dave Wilbur dispersed the students. She said "at least three or four" policemen were present.

High School Principal Daniel Carmody said he met with both grades in an assembly to address the issue. He also said he spoke with the Principal at Uxbridge to indicate his concern over the image the Millbury students had projected.

Carmody indicated a need to do something more formally for incoming grade 7 students at an assembly. It also was noted that two students from Shaw School may have been involved as well as one private school student.

Dance Policy

High School Principal Dan Carmody presented proposed changes to the Dance Policy at the High School as recommended by a 14- member Study Committee made up of teachers, administrators, parents and students.

The recommendations are as follows:

- Dances are for Millbury High School (MHS) students and their guests only.
- MHS students must sign up guests in the main office prior to the close of school on the day of the dance.
- MHS students must sign in guests by listing guest's name, home address and school attending.
- MHS students must purchase tickets in advance from the group sponsoring the dance and list the name, address and school attended by the guest on the back of the ticket.
- Guests must come to the dance with some form of identification.
- Guests and MHS student must come to the dance together.
- Prior to admittance, all above procedures must be approved by the Administrator in attendance.
- MHS students and guests must remain together throughout the dance.
- MHS student will be responsible for his\her guest and if there is any infraction of the Code of Conduct by the guest, it may lead to the MHS student losing the right to attend future MHS dances.
- Infractions of the rules by guests will be handled by the Millbury Police Department.
- One Police Officer will be hired for each dance.

Committeewoman Jane Pojani asked why the option of banning guests entirely was not considered.

Carmody replied that he made a motion to do so but was outvoted 12-2.

Brad Turner, a parent in attendance, said young people don't live in a fish bowl and should not be penalized for adult supervision problems. "The rest of us think there are enough safeguards now, and don't see problems arising," he said. "They have to be taught to be adults. It's easier for the administration to say no one from the outside. That will kill the dances."

The School Committee approved the recommendations and offered to pay half the cost for police details to help ease the burden.

Posting of School Property

The Committee heard an appeal from Paul and Karin Raffa whose Elmwood Street property abuts school property, to post signs banning hunting and dirt bikes on school property since they are a safety hazard to area children. They noted that families living on Cindy Lane are also concerned with the hazards of people hunting and shooting on school property.

Raffa noted that the Police have said it is illegal to carry firearms and hunt on school property, but the area must be posted.

Chairman Chet Hanratty said the committee will look into the cost of signs and the possibility of posting the school property at a future meeting. "We will take some steps, but they may not be as quick as you would want," he said.

Blois said pending negotiations indicated a yearly cost of between $63 and $75. When that figure is confirmed by the DPU, agreed to by the Town, and when the Town acknowledges some past due money, the hydrants will be turned on. Blois reiterated that the date of turn-on was indefinite.

VanderBaan questioned the last minute changes proposed by the selectmen.

"These negotiations started immediately after the September Town Meeting," Strieby replied, when the $5500 was appropriated. The selectmen formed a committee to talk with Northbridge and the WWC, and were presenting the progress of that negotiation to the meeting. The petition (Articles 2 and 3) and the BOS negotiations overlapped.

Raina Bradley asked if the same rates would apply to Manchaug and Wilkinsonville Districts and if the DPU would be involved.

Blois explained that the Districts were quasi-public entities, and that the establishment of the WWC rate would be sufficient to start negotiations with the Districts.

Article 2 was indefinitely postponed.

Article 3, payment of past-due hydrant rentals, was also indefinitely postponed.

Voters approved the following articles: Article 4, Abatement of under $10 uncollected tax bills; Article 5, change name of Blackstone Road to Blackstone Street; Article 6, change name of Worcester-Providence Road to Worcester-Providence Turnpike.

Articles 7 to 12, Pine Ridge street acceptances, were passed over because the streets are not in acceptable condition.

Under Article 13, voters approved a zoning change petitioned by Howard Pellatt of New Hampshire for a change from R-1 to B-2 for the Shuttle Shop at the corner of Buttonwood Ave. and Providence Road, to bring its use into conformity with abutting properties.

Voters approved an increase in the maximum parking fine to $15 to replace the current $5 limit under Article 14.

Resident Mary Slocum objected, saying, "I think this is ridiculous. In the small town of Sutton I just can't believe it. I think we're going out of our minds."

Resident Bob Sanger supported the change as did Chizy, saying, "I think it's very important; the Fire Chief thinks it's important; the Police Chief thinks it's important; the Board of Selectmen thinks it's important. Somebody is always parked in the Fire Lane at Sutton Square. I don't think there's any reason whatsoever to park in a fire lane or a handicapped spot, and if that's ridiculous, then I don't know what I'm talking about."

Article 17 sought to discontinue Dean Farm Road which was accepted by the town in 1833. The road runs from Lincoln Road south and east to the Northbridge line. David Suhl, residing on Lincoln Road, was the petitioner.

Strieby proposed an amendment to discontinue the road from a point 230 feet from the easterly side of Lincoln Road.

In answer to a question on the reason for the amendment, Blois explained that the owner of the approximately 40 acre parcel behind the Lincoln Road properties should not, in the opinion of Town Counsel, be denied access to his property. Access would be denied if the road was discontinued as far as Lincoln Road and the road area awarded to the abutting present property owners on Lincoln Road. If Dean Farm behind the Lincoln Road properties was not discontinued, the owner could require the town to upgrade the road to standard. The proposed amendment would preserve the rights of the developer but would require him, under the Subdivision rules, to construct roads within his property and to negotiate with the Planning Board and the property owners for access through the 230 feet to Lincoln Road.

Selectwoman Mary K Connor explained that the town was being cautious in that the developer would have to negotiate his passage over the 230 feet.

Suhl insisted that the town was still exposed over the 230 feet.

Connor quoted Town Counsel's assurance that the town would have no liability to build the road.

Johnson agreed, saying the Planning Board had the authority and the responsibility to see that the "town had no obligation to build anything for any developer."

Planning Board member Scott Paul questioned the Board's ability to take a positive position, but Connor, a former Chair of the Planning Board, said, "I think there's plenty of leverage on the part of the town to require that that first 230 feet be the responsibility of the developer."

The similarity to the improvement of Dudley Lane by the developer of Pine Ridge was cited.

The amendment was passed and the Meeting voted to discontinue Dean Farm Road starting 230 feet from Lincoln Road.

Voters approved an amendment to the Recreation By-Law under Article 18 to allow the Recreation Commission to set fees for their programs after holding a public hearing. The article refers only to Commission programs and not to fees of private groups who might use the commission's facilities.

Article 19 concerned a proposal from The Okonite Company to give the town approximately 12,000 square feet of property off Pleasant Valley Road near the Highway Department salt shed. The land is clear of taxes, may be used for municipal purposes, or may be sold to an abutter.

Discussion centered on the land as a possible source of pollution, on the contents of tanks on the property, and on clean-up costs.

Bill Pepka suggested that there were many unanswered questions and that the Selectmen examine the land before accepting it. The article was amended to require the approval of the Selectmen before accepting the gift.

Voters approved a new Handicapped Parking Bylaw which defines the regulations and requirements for handicapped parking spots and establishes a $50 fine and tow-away for violators.

Under Article 21, voters approved a proposal from the Bylaw Revision Committee to amend the General Bylaws to provide a probationary period of one year for officers and employees appointed by the Town Administrator.

Article 22, dealing with the distribution of Town Meeting warrants, was defeated 37-30. The proposal by the Bylaw Revision Committee would have provided for the mailing of a summary of the warrant to the household of each registered voter. The cost to mail to 1840 households was estimated at $465.52 plus $30 for envelopes. Opponents questioned the unstated cost of labor.

The Selectmen and many others in attendance lauded the idea, stating in various ways that anything done to improve attendance, and thereby the democratic process of Town Meeting, was a plus. Opponents questioned the amount of the expenditure in view of the town's finances, the hopelessness of the cause, and in so many words said lassitude and lack of interest would persist no matter what efforts were made.

Some suggested the use of the access channel on cable TV, obviously indicating their unawareness that the meeting is already announced on cable.

Voters unanimously approved Article 23, which resulted in the culmination of a long standing dispute between the town and John Kuchinski. Involved is the intersection of Burnap Road at Central Turnpike. Burnap Road is intersected by a triangle of land separating the east and west legs of the turn into Central Turnpike. Kuchinski claims the west leg and the triangle are his. The town claims an error was made on the layout of Central Turnpike in 1933, and that the two legs are necessary for safe transit into Central Turnpike because of visual limitations due to the topography of the area.

The article provides for the purchase, acceptance as a gift, or the taking by eminent domain of the land in question.

Kuchinski claims, and is supported by Assessor Nick Nunnemacher, to have paid taxes on the disputed land until a few years ago.

The town insists on the present layout of the road as a highway safety matter.

Article 24, Fiscal Year Annual Report, was recommended by the Bylaw Revision Committee and approved by voters. The article seeks approval for the Selectmen to petition the Legislature for a Special Act permitting the town to publish its annual report on a fiscal year basis, thereby eliminating the cost of keeping duplicate records to prepare a calendar year report.

Beacon Hill Roll Call

This week's Beacon Hill Roll Call records the votes of Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) and Representatives Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge) and Paul Kollios (D-Millbury).

CITIZENSHIP (H 6164)- House 72-72, refused to reconsider its earlier defeat of an amendment to the bill abolishing the General Relief program and replacing it with one designed to provide emergency aid for the elderly and disabled. The amendment allows assistance to be given to families with dependent children whose sole reason for ineligibility is an inability to prove citizen or lawfully admitted alien status. Amendment supporters said this would allow the Governor to help some illegal aliens' children who cannot prove citizenship or the fact they were born here. Opponents said the bill should eliminate eligibility of all illegal aliens and claimed the amendment will lead to other costly attempts to water down the bill. Moore voted against the amendment. Kollios voted to reconsider the defeat of the amendment.

TOWING (S 366)- Senate 32-1, overrode Governor Weld's veto of an amended bill taking the authority of setting towing rates for police ordered towing away from the Department of Public Utilities
(DPU). The bill also establishes the maximum rates at $50 per tow plus $1.25 per mile. Current Maximum Rates are $1.25 per mile, $30 for a daytime tow and $35 for an evening tow. Supporters of the hike said the DPU has refused to raise rates to keep up with increased costs for towing companies and argued the $50 dollar rate is comparable to rates charged to consumers for private towing. Opponents said this anti-consumer bill will cost drivers thousands of dollars and noted a large portion of all complaints filed with the DPU involve towing companies. They argued the bill is special interest legislation and pointed out the original bill filed by Senator Robert Wetmore (D-Barre) sets no maximum charge and would let towing companies charge as much as they want.

Amorello voted for the hike.

CHOOSE A SCHOOL (S 1691)- Senate 22-12, rejected an order directing the Senate chairman of the Joint Education Committee to schedule an October 28th public hearing on a bill revising the recently passed choose a school law. Supporters said the order will send a message that the law is seriously flawed and is devastating many communities. They noted the law provides that the amount of tuition paid to a receiving school under the program is subtracted from the sending school's local aid and will result in more teacher layoffs and declining education. Some opponents said the order is meaningless and unenforceable and noted the Senate cannot dictate to a joint committee. Others said the committee is working on a comprehensive eduction reform bill which it will report out in a few weeks. Amorello voted for the order.

Education Grants Available

WHITINSVILLE - The Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce School/Business Partnership has applications for its 1991/1992 education grants. School superintendents have been notified that the deadline for submitting applications is November 21.

The partnership has increased the grant awards from $200 to $250 each. Applications will be reviewed by December 15, and winners announced by January 15. There are a total of 14 awards available to teachers with special projects or programs in need of outside funding - one for each of the school systems in the Blackstone Valley.

The goals of the partnership include promoting the development of students so that they are qualified and prepared to make significant contributions when they enter the work force; provide students with career planning and skills development information; and encouraging and supporting school reform as educators work to improve their systems.

This is the third year the chamber offers the grants. Awards are made for programs or projects that best meet one or more of the partnership's goals. For more information or for a copy of the application, contact Mary Hubbard at 234-9090 or Sandra Haagsma at 1-800-244-2924.
